FREE ADMISSION for McKinley Day at the McKinley Presidential Library & Museum

Canton, Ohio... Through a generous grant from the American Electric Power Foundation, there will be FREE admission on Saturday January 25 for McKinley Day at the McKinley Presidential Library & Museum.

All of the visitor's favorite McKinley Day activities will be back again this year, including Civil War re-enactors, special shows in Discover World, and focus tours in the McKinley Gallery. Tying the Knot, an exhibition of wedding dresses from the 1880s to the 1980s, will be on view in the Keller Gallery.

A highlight of the festivities is always the moving Wreath Laying Ceremony at 1:00 PM, where local veterans, government officials, and a General representing the White House lay wreaths in memory of the President. As the strains of "Taps" echo in the cold winter air, it is a time to remember the life of Canton's favorite son, William McKinley.

Swenson's food truck will be available for guests to purchase lunch.
